WHITAKER SAYS RUSSIA BIG QUESTION MARK

Hitler's Timetable Likely To Backfire

By JOHN T. WHITAKER

EDMONTON, June 28.—(CND)—With a standing peacetime army of 3,000,000 and plans for expanding it to 12,000,000, Russia remains a question mark to military experts and few of them—especially if they have been in the Soviet Union—would like to prophesy the course of Fuhrer Adolf Hitler's latest adventure in his ever-widening program of world conquest.

German generals are the exception, however, because, your correspondent learns on good authority, they expect to complete their campaign in four weeks, thus evidencing an optimism which reminds observers that Dictator-Premier Joseph V. Stalin too felt pretty cocky a year and a half ago.

The Kremlin expected to force the collapse of Finland to exactly four hours. Almost everybody agreed with Stalin.

except the Finns, who have a stubbornness equalled only by the Russian mujik.

In these days when total warfare involves total populations, time-tables are likely to backfire on the military gentry and, despite the fact that they have confidently learned the most audacious invasion of modern history, the Germans are likely to find that the sheer bigness of Russia is more than they bargained for.

EXCLUSIVE

The American can grasp the enormity of Russia but the average German leaving his crooklike rivers and his garden-like fields, gasps that "there just ain't no such animal."

In each of my visits to the Soviet Union that is what has impressed me the most. Russian rivers are big, like the Mississippi; Russian mud is black, sticky and deep, like the mud of Texas; the Russian mountains are as forbidding as the Rockies; the Russian steppes as vast as the Canadian prairies, while the curiously nondescript races and nationalities which compose the polyglot union total 193,000,000 souls. That is a lot of people to butcher, even for Hitler's experts.

It would seem plain from the plan for a one-month blitz that the Germans expect to put the pinners on Moscow, and crush Stalin's government and army simultaneously. Their swift columns, with a preponderant air escort, will try, meanwhile, to drive through the Ukraine to Baku oil. It is that easy, on paper, for the fastest maneuvering army in history, and the 11 autonomous republics are expected to fly apart.

The Germans may encounter several jokers, however. In the first place, the Russians have burned out a vast strip on the frontier and turned all collective farms into self-sufficient little forts designed to discourage the invader.

NATURAL BARRIER

In the second place, many of their war industries lie east of the Ural mountains, which form a natural barrier 2,500 miles long. Even if the German campaign is successful, it should prove only the initial phase.

Standing behind the Urals, with vast industrial and raw material strength still in their hands, the Russians should be able to out-Chinese the Chinese in the kind of warfare the Japanese have found so distasteful. Having invented total warfare, the Germans would be well-advised to realize from Japan's lesson that a heroic people—and the Russians are certainly that—have not got one Lindbergh or Wheeler per million.

Whether they call it Red Russia or Holy Russia, whether they think of themselves as sons of the Czar or pioneers of

The familiar British greeting of good cheer these little Chinese boys are giving is no product of modern war, having come down to them from their illustrious ancestors. It is accompanied by the salutation "Dir, Kwa Kwa," which means, "Are we downhearted? No!"

Free Hand For Roosevelt In Defence Moves Sought By U. S. War Department

WASHINGTON, June 28.—(AP)—The United States government was reported reliably today to have decided to ask congress for a formal declaration of a national emergency to give President Roosevelt as commander-in-chief a free hand in defence moves.

German Prison Ship Capture—Rescue Sailors

LONDON, June 28.—(UP)—The 5,663-ton German vessel Alster, supply and prison ship for a Nazi raider, has been intercepted and survivors of two sunken British merchantmen rescued, the Admiralty announced today.

Shipyards Blasted In Heavy Raid

LONDON, June 28.—(CP)—Flames "beyond all control" were left by Royal Air Force bombers in the port of Bremen and its shipyards during the night, the air ministry news service announced today.

At Vegesack, another coastal point attacked, the Vulkan ship-building yards, which have been adapted to U-boat construction, were dealt with. Direct hits were scored and many large fires resulted.

Bremershaven, Cuxhaven, Oldenburg, Den Helder, Cilaau and Danneberg also fell. The R.A.F.'s fury. The extensive operations cost 12 bombers. Cloud and ice conditions were bad, the news service commenting that German night fighters were able to collect in the cloud openings, and anti-aircraft guns have a very fierce barrage around Bremen.

START TOO EARLY

It was the 17th straight night of attacks on Germany. This morning the "round-the-clock" offensive, greeted by the war, started out early again. Explosions were heard by English coast residents soon after two big formations of bombers swept towards the coast.

All bombers returned safely from the morning raid in which they dropped phosphorus bombs. Authoritative sources said that one target was a power station at Cuxhaven, near Lube. The plant was bombed heavily.

As lightning near the air continued, pilots reported sighting only a few Nazi planes in their operations over France. Three were shot down. Three British fighter planes were reported lost, but the pilot of one was safe.

TROOPS, GUNS BOMBED

In attacks over France last night and yesterday the R.A.F. lost nine fighter planes and eight pilots, one airman evidently parachuting to safety. Eight Nazi airfields, troops and gun emplacements were bombed and machine-gunned. A steel bridge spanning the Rhine near Cologne was hit, and the bridge was damaged. The Nazis were ordered to pull out of the area.

A sample of what may take place in many other cities and towns across the Dominion, Toronto was "invaded" by an armored force of 15,000 men from Camp Borden who swept down on the city when word was flashed that "fifth columnists" planned to take over the city within a few hours.

Military, police and civic authorities in the city were not told of the plans of the Camp Borden military authorities and were taken completely by surprise as armed troops took up positions at transportation, communication offices and other essential civic buildings. Office workers were stopped by armed guards and asked for their registration cards, top left, while Bren carriers rambled through the streets, lower left and right.

Three Nazi Ships Are Attempting To Run Sea Blockade

DIO DE JANEIRO, June 28.—(AP)—Three German freighters put out to sea from Brazil last night apparently in an attempt to dash home through the British blockade.

They are the 3,172-ton freighter Natal, which sailed from Santos and the 4,416-ton Hermine and the 5,561-ton Frankfurt, which set out from here.

Free French Army Advances In Syria

LONDON, June 28.—(CP)—Free French forces have reached a point three miles south of Neke, Syria, which is 45 miles northeast of the Syrian capital of Damascus, authoritative sources said today. Three French armoured divisions are reported to be moving in to take the city.

Guggenheim Dies

NEW YORK, June 28.—(AP)—William Guggenheim, 72, youngest of seven brothers who pyramided a supposedly worthless mine into an industrial empire, died last night.

Russ Drive Back Huns In Assault

MOSCOW, June 28.—(AP)—The Red army's tanks, planes and artillery, joined in a counter-assault, have routed the most threatening of all the German armored columns that have shoved into the buffer zone of occupied territory along the old Russian frontier, it was announced officially today.

The German column was pointed toward Minsk, on the road to Moscow, 400 miles away, when the Russians, by their own account, turned the full fury of their military power on it.

The Russian communiqué, picturing the greatest array of successes thus far in the seven-day-old struggle, said that the fighting was fiercest in the Minsk and Luck sectors, with no evidence yet that the Germans in either had crossed the old frontier.

Minsk, capital of White Russia, lies 20 miles inside the old frontier, about 150 miles east of the nearest German border.

Convention At Calgary Seeks Daylight Time

Resolution from the Edmonton City Council asking that daylight saving time be made effective in Alberta in aid in the training of the men of Canada's reserve army was unanimously passed by the delegates to the Union of Alberta Municipalities which concluded sessions of its annual convention at Calgary Friday.

The resolution, which the Dominion government has an order-in-council making daylight saving time effective in the province when the Dominion city council passed this motion recently, says of it, "It was forwarded to the Federal authorities and Thursday a reply was received from Hon. C.D. Howe, minister of munitions and supply, to the effect that the institution of daylight saving was a matter for the municipality and as such the federal government did not wish to interfere with the municipality's rights."

Premier Issues Action Call To Canadian Youth

CALGARY, June 28.—(CP)—Prime Minister Mackenzie King, in a message sent from Ottawa, tonight declared that Canada is finally upon the verge of full participation in the world's affairs and that the Dominion "to play its full part in defending its liberties and in helping to preserve peace and enlarge the brotherhood of freedom in the world."

The Prime Minister's message was dispatched to Saskatoon to be read at a recruiting rally. Text of the statement follows:

FREEDOM THREATENED

The people of Canada have voluntarily taken their place in the greatest struggle in the history of the world. In no part of Canada should the issue be more clearly appreciated than in the western provinces. From the prairies of Saskatchewan to the mountains of British Columbia, men and women have come to be threatened by a powerful and ruthless enemy. Hitler is no longer able to conceal his designs to dominate and enslave the whole of mankind. He has long looked to the new world to complete his conquest.

Let no one mistake the fact: the security of a free Canada depends upon the maintenance of freedom in the world. To defend and secure that freedom Canada is appealing to her free citizens from all parts of her army, her navy and her air force. Never in the history of men has such an opportunity been given to help in a great cause.

TIME FOR ACTION

The time for young men—the future rulers of Canada—to translate into action their love of liberty and their devotion to the freedom which their fathers found in this great new land.

The patriotism of Saskatchewan and of all Canada is finding expression today in the increasing enlistment in the armed forces of Canada, of our young men of many origins. Our country is calling to them to play their full part in defending its liberties and in helping to preserve peace and enlarge the brotherhood of freedom in the world.

Pioneers Leave Great Heritage For Canadians

Canada, a nation strong, God-favored with the countless gifts of heaven! That is the heritage which the pioneers have given us. Lancelot A. Forsyth, K.C., Montreal, in the concluding sentences of his speech to members of the Canadian Club and Women's Canadian Club at the Macdonald Hotel Friday afternoon.

"We founded this nation on blood and sweat. Their blood and sweat and true fought through tribulation to create Canada's nationhood. We said: Today our nationhood, our freedom is threatened, and as the pioneers fought to create this Canada we love, so must we give of our blood, our sweat and tears to preserve our nationhood and enshrine freedom again in the hearts of men."

STRIKING LINES

Concluding his address Mr. Forsyth read the following poem which he composed for this occasion:

Beneath the standard of St. George,
The English fields and fairs,
For the first time, we have learned to know
What stuff free men are.

Remember that flag in England's ranks,
The Wickham and the Kent,
Where the first time, the first time,
Have stood and yielded not.

That flag was proudly kept aloft,
A symbol of men free,
And made in the north every day,
On the loom of every day.

By blood and sweat of Britain's men,
Her women's bitter tears,
That nation died with prayer bowed head,
Fighting empty years.

The sacred ramparts of Quebec,
The fiefs of Acadia,
In days close by were won to fly
Great France's fleur de lys.

The boundless prairies' rolling wealth,
The endless mountains' heights,
Were won by strain and toil and pain
By two, our father's little.

The wilderness seas that bound our land,
Have taught that flag unfurled,
Borne golden grain from western plains
To feed a starving world.

They built along the blood and sweat
And women's lamentations,
Blood, tears and love they carried
And made this land a nation.

A nation strong, with righteous strength
God-given, good to feed the world,
Where stream and field and forest
Were the countless gifts of heaven.

The land we love, this nation great
Must stand the test of time,
And it shall live, but we must give
Our blood and sweat, our tears.

Medical Officer Of Health Warns Scarlet Fever Dangerous Disease

Discovery by the medical health authorities of four children attending school when in the scaling stage of scarlet fever has caused some anxiety to the city health officer, Dr. G. M. Little, a warning setting forth the dangers of this disease and the absolute necessity for reporting such cases at once to ensure proper isolation.

In the four cases the parents were unaware their children were suffering from the disease. "In such mild cases ignorance regarding the disease and unwillingness of parents to call a doctor for mild complaints inevitably lead to some misadventures of communicable diseases," Dr. Little stated.

CHARACTER IS TRAP

grave complications to themselves, and while they were still quite capable of spreading the disease to their schoolmates. I cannot think that any parent would knowingly expose their own and other children to such grave possibilities. Surely it can only be through ignorance of the condition present.

"Fever, sore throat, headache and vomiting are early symptoms of scarlet fever which demands isolation of the patient from others in the family until a surgical diagnosis is made. Sometimes these symptoms may not be all present. A fine red rash appearing on the neck body and limbs usually presents itself on the second day of illness. The child may be mildly ill for only a few days but still capable of spreading the infection to others for several weeks.

"During the past few weeks in our own city four registered cases of scarlet fever were identified by scaling in the second and third weeks of the disease. Unfortunately three of these cases had returned to school just at the stage when exposure might promptly result in

Only 47 Per Cent. Of City Residents Get Enough To Eat

OLDS, Alta., June 28.—(CP)—Clear evidence of malnutrition of Edmonton residents was revealed in a recent survey undertaken in the capital city. Dr. L. B. Pett, professor of bio-chemistry and nutrition, University of Alberta, declared in an address at the Olds agricultural college Thursday night.

Only 47 per cent of the persons interviewed during the survey were getting enough to eat. Dr. Pett said.

Only nine per cent of the people examined were obtaining sufficient vitamin B in their diets, and this vitamin was considered by authorities in Great Britain to be so essential to the health of the people that it was being introduced into wheat flour.

Further Dr. Pett said, 50 per cent of the persons examined were not getting enough fat in their diets.

and only 38 per cent were obtaining sufficient protein.

"We talk about starvation in Europe and say it can't happen here and that we are the 'bread basket' of the world, the survey shows that it can happen here," Dr. Pett concluded.

With 354 babies out of every 1,000 dying during their first year, Minnesota has the lowest infant mortality rate in the United States.

AFRICA, ENGLAND, ICELAND, MALAYA, AND THE FAR CORNERS OF THE EMPIRE

At a dozen different ports they're being swung ashore—those crates marked "Ford, Made in Canada". From Ford's great plant at Windsor, Ontario, more than 75,000 fighting machines have already gone forward to the armies of the Empire.

As far back as 1936 the Canadian Ford Company laid the groundwork for the production of military vehicles, in close co-operation with the Department of National Defence. A few weeks after war was declared, complete army vehicles were rolling from the assembly line.

Today a constant stream of military vehicles of more than twenty types comes from the skilled hands of Ford workers at Windsor. Tomorrow these vehicles may be traversing the sands of Africa, the beaches of England, the far shores of Iceland or Malaya.

On such modern, Canadian-built machines, the safety of the Empire armies may depend. That is why the 13,000 workers at Ford of Canada are determined to build truly and well.

A Place For God

ONE of our modern men has said "Nothing is real unless it is local." This is fundamental in religion and I think also in democracy. Always it has been God's policy to localize Himself.

"Theology teaches us that God is everywhere. But if He is everywhere He must be there where you are and here where I am."

If you asked Moses "Where is God?" He would have replied: "God is everywhere." But if you had asked again: "Is there a place where I can find Him?" Moses would have told you that God spoke to him out of the burning bush.

If you had asked an Israelite in the wilderness "Where is your God?" He would have told you: "Where is your God?" But if you had asked again: "Is there a place where I can find Him?" He would have told you that God spoke to him out of the burning bush.

So God has always put it into the minds of those that seek Him to make Him a Tabernacle, or a Temple, or a Shrine, or a Church, or a Home, or a Localized Place Where He can be found by those that seek Him. There were many blind men in the days of Christ but none were blind but those who came to Him. He was not in any one place but in all places. He is God and He is everywhere. For us to find Him, we must find Him everywhere.

So God has always put it into the minds of those that seek Him to make Him a Tabernacle, or a Temple, or a Shrine, or a Church, or a Home, or a Localized Place Where He can be found by those that seek Him. There were many blind men in the days of Christ but none were blind but those who came to Him. He was not in any one place but in all places. He is God and He is everywhere. For us to find Him, we must find Him everywhere.

So God has always put it into the minds of those that seek Him to make Him a Tabernacle, or a Temple, or a Shrine, or a Church, or a Home, or a Localized Place Where He can be found by those that seek Him. There were many blind men in the days of Christ but none were blind but those who came to Him. He was not in any one place but in all places. He is God and He is everywhere. For us to find Him, we must find Him everywhere.

Edmonton Churches to Observe Sunday As Day of Dedication

Sunday, June 29, has been proclaimed a day of special dedication to national unity and to the service of the community. The proclamation was made by a royal proclamation signed by King George VI.

The proclamation recalls the state of war existing between Canada and Germany and Italy and the fact that Canada voluntarily took up arms to defend the rights and liberties of free peoples.

"It states the day of special dedication is being proclaimed in order to safeguard the continued existence of our civilization and to invoke the blessing of Almighty God upon our just cause and to seek divine guidance by humble prayer and devotion."

Text of decree: "The Archbishop, Bishops and other church heads and the clergy of all religious denominations throughout Canada, when they assemble in their churches for divine service on Sunday, June 29, shall bring before the people of Canada the duties of citizenship and the duties of the church and the need of service and sacrifice by all our people for the preservation of our civilization and for the bringing about of a lasting and righteous peace."

Cowboy Reigns Supreme When Annual Rodeo Held At Lively Alberta Town

Contrary to the belief entertained in some straits of this modern society, the day of the cowboy, with his tangle-hat and flapping chaps is far from past. How could the cowboy leave this existence when in not so rare corners of every Alberta town are found lingering those very men who penetrated into the wild country of years ago, those men who today are pioneers and old-timers of the cowboyland centres in which the modern citizen must live.

The life of the cowboy has been glorified in song and story, on the radio and on the screen. But in the west, he is not only glorified, he is revered—youth and old live the life for a day that he lived for years. They eat as he ate and do the things he liked to do.

A group of citizens in a central Alberta village several years ago organized themselves into an organization known as the Ponoka Sports Association. Its officers are Gordon Alder, president; M. E. Granland, secretary; D. Wing, stampede manager; and E. Slater, race manager. To these gentlemen has fallen the lot of keeping alive that old cowboy sports day, the stampede.

The Ponoka Stampede has, through the years, become rightly an institution in Alberta until today it attracts visitors and contestants from all parts of the

The New Town Planning

By CECIL S. BURGESS, F.R.A.I.C.
Hon. Sec. Edmonton Town Planning Commission

8-Districts Of A City

ONE of the major works in town planning is the zoning or apportioning of certain districts to certain uses. As explained in a former article this apportionment follows in general the natural trends but with elimination of non-conforming uses. The number of different types of districts and their uses will depend on the size of the city and also on its particular character. A city that is highly industrial will have a different set of uses from one that is almost entirely residential. We may consider a diversified city in which many kinds of uses are represented.

The Major Streets, the Civic Centre and the Park System have been already tentatively considered the chief uses will be commercial and residential. These two main divisions are generally distinguished from each other in that commercial buildings are of a general height, private gardens are the rule. Commercial buildings are therefore built up to the street line, residential buildings are set a certain distance back from the line.

Two types of residential districts are generally recognized: 1. Single Family Dwellings Districts, and 2. Apartment or Multiple Family Dwelling Districts. It will be realized that a hotel and an apartment building serve somewhat similar purposes, yet a hotel is planned as a business use while an apartment is a residential use. A hotel may not be built in a residential district providing open space areas. It is right to see it as a relatively permanent residence.

Considering what has been said about the flow of traffic and the pattern of traffic it follows, then, nearly as existing circumstances permit, the manufacturing and wholesale district should be closest to the railway, next should come the retail and professional district and then the residential district. This consideration will serve as a general guide.

VARY GREATLY

Cities vary greatly as to the proportion of area required for the various uses. On an average 16 per cent will be required for industrial and wholesale purposes, shopping and business will require 4 per cent, public and semi-public buildings 10 per cent, residential purposes 60, parks 10. These proportions may be assumed as a starting point only, to be departed from, as circumstances suggest. Much the largest portion of the area of a modern city is occupied by residences. About 80 per cent of the population is housed in single family residences and these occupy 90 per cent of the residential area.

It is now recognized that very extensive residential areas are well served under provision is made for a number of local requirements. The principle is to provide a lot of making provision for schools, parks and small local business centres within ready access to residential areas so that people do not need to walk more than half a mile for the essential services and purchases which these supply. Cities tend to become much too large for all the people to know one another, or even to act in concert.

COMMUNITY GROUPS

There is, however, a tendency for people to draw together into community groups. This is definitely in the interests of good citizenship and

Traditional House Is Planned For Modern, Efficient Living

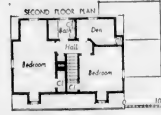

This house has a dignified exterior of Colonial, carrying out an old tradition in authentic detail. Characterized by simplicity and convenience throughout, the house is designed in the conventional central hallway plan with living and dining rooms and bedrooms all opening from halls. There are departures from conventionality in the breakfast room downstairs and den upstairs. The living room fireplace is flanked by closets, and the good-sized dining room provides privacy for entertaining. The kitchen is efficiently planned and well-equipped.

Your own architect or builder can, if you want him to, duplicate the plans for this house.

Smuggled Pictures Illustrate Nazi "New Order" In Poland — United States Submarine Disaster — Girl Picket

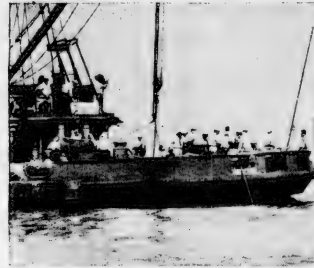

More than 100 Polish residents were reported to have been executed as a result of a brawl in an inn at Wawie in which two German military police sergeants were slain. In this picture, left, smuggled from Poland, the unfortunate inn keeper is shown hanging in his own doorway with a board inscribed with his "crimes" hung about his waist. As part of the Nazi new order in Poland, hundreds of Poles are gathered together, right, and shipped to Germany, where they are used in forced labor.

The U.S. Navy salvage tug Falcon is pictured, left, hovering over the spot where the U.S. submarine O-9 lies in 440 feet of water off the Isles of Shoals, near Portsmouth. The marker buoy, foreground, is the exact location of the sunken sub. Thirty-three members of her crew were given up for lost as divers were unable to reach the ill-fated vessel. A naval officer is pictured, right, examining a piece of cork, thought to be from the inside of the O-9. It is feared the sub was caved in by the tremendous water pressure after it failed to surface following a crash dive.

Tirza, night club dancer, is shown picketting the New York offices of the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, after the ASPCA had caused her to be summoned to court. They charged her with cruelty to the doves, which she uses in her dance, by keeping the birds confined in a small cage in her apartment.

A full length view of the battleship Paris Commune, one of the biggest battleships of the Red navy, which bolsters Russian naval strength in the Black Sea. Soviet naval forces are considerably stronger in the Black Sea than the Nazis; the main threat being a fleet of German mosquito torpedo boats.

Taken in front of a Polish Catholic church in Chelm and smuggled out of Poland, this picture shows German soldiers ridiculing religion. Some of the soldiers have donned vestments and are burlesquing religious ceremonies. Augustus Cardinal Hlond, Primate of Poland, has reported to the Vatican that Polish priests have been imprisoned and shot by the Nazis.

Defence Minister Ralston tries the sights of a trench mortar during a tour of the Officers' Training Centre at Brockville.

It's "thumbs up" for these English public school boys who gained their R.A.F. observer's wings on Canadian soil. They are members of the first R.A.F. observers to graduate in Canada after training at Picton. Left to right: Sergt. P. W. Jarrett, Oxford; Sergt. T. K. Haynes of Surrey; Sergt. D. R. ## Russian Soldiers Engaging Hitler's Hordes On Long Front

The world was rocked with the announcement that German forces had attacked Soviet Russia without any formal declaration of war or an ultimatum. The German attack took place in face of the Soviet-German friendship pact. In a battlefront stretching nearly 2,000 miles from Finland to the Black Sea, fierce fighting was reported in progress as Soviet troops, above, resisted Nazi aggression. Long reported to be the largest army and air force in the world, the Red forces are now being put to the test by the Nazi military machine.

Jail Term For Driving Court

Charged with being intoxicated while in charge of a car, George Albert was arrested in a city apartment house at 11 p.m. Friday after allegedly causing an accident about an hour earlier.

Albert was sentenced to 60 days in jail by Magistrate Miller when he pleaded guilty to the charge of dangerous driving in police court Saturday. The crown withdrew a charge of driving on a highway without a license.

Constables Black and Nelson arrested Albert after a complaint by Mrs. Paul Adams, 1946 98 street. Adams stated she was driving west on 102 avenue at the intersection of 98 street when she saw a car coming east with her machine. The driver of the other car backed away hurriedly and drove away.

Constable Duggan, 1080 102A avenue, stated the car nearly struck a baby carriage containing her child in backing away.

Police officers found a car in a dimly lit condition on 102 avenue and 97 street bearing a license number said to belong to the car that figured in the previous accident.
